

Sonderforschungsbereich 980
EPISTEME IN BEWEGUNG

Deutsche
Forschungsgemeinschaft
German Research Foundation

Freie Universität

Berlin

Medicine, Life, and Transformations of Matter 1500–1800

Date and location: June 16–17, 2022 | Freie Universität, Berlin-Dahlem

Organizers: Carmen Schmechel (FU), Antonio Clericuzio (Roma Tre)

Sponsored by: Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft, Grant agreement no. 432256662

CRC 980 „Episteme in Motion”; Freie Universität Berlin

Hybrid – please register at transformations.of.matter@gmail.com

16.06.2022

14.00–14.15 | Carmen Schmechel and Antonio Clericuzio

Opening of conference

14.15–15.00 | Fabrizio Baldassarri

At the Roots of Life: Vegetation and Matter in Premodern Times

15.00–15.45 | Elisabeth Moreau

Bodily Moistures in Late Renaissance Physiology

15.45–16.00 Coffee break

16.00–16.45 | Hiro Hirai

Seeds of Things in Early Modern Philosophy of Matter (online)

16.45–17.00 Coffee break

17.00–18.00 | Keynote Antonio Clericuzio

Mechanism and Chemistry in Early Modern Italy

17.06.2022

10.30–11.15 | Guido Giglioni

Fermenting Matter, or how Francis Glisson Combined Bacon's Corpuscularianism with the Helmontian Chemistry of Vital Ideas

11.15–11.30 Coffee break

11.30–12.15 | Sorana Corneanu

The Baconian Logic of Material Motions

12.15–13.15 Lunch break

13.15–14.00 | Jo Hedesan

Fire and Medical Alchemy (online)

14.00–14.45 | Carmen Schmechel

Spirits and Fermentations in alchemia medica

14.45–15.00 Coffee break

15.00–15.45 | Jonathan Regier

Divine Heat: Immanence, Immortality and Material Change in Cardano's philosophy

15.45–16.30 | Charles Wolfe

Soul as Mind, Soul as Organism: Two Naturalization Strategies in the Enlightenment

16.30–17.00 Coffee break

17.00–18.00 | Keynote Anne Eusterschulte

Athanasius Kircher's Theories on the Inner Life of the Earth within the Context of Philosophical Presuppositions

18.00 | Carmen Schmechel and Antonio Clericuzio

Closing remarks

Link for more information: www.sfb-episteme.de/veranstaltungen/Vorschau/2022/BAP_Medicine.html